Frank Schmallegger, Ph.D., is Distinguished Professor Emeritus at the University of North Carolina at Pembroke. He holds degrees from the University of Notre Dame and Ohio State University, having earned both a master's (1970) and a doctorate in sociology (1974) from Ohio State University with a special emphasis in criminology. From 1976 to 1994, he taught criminology and criminal justice courses at the University of North Carolina at Pembroke. For the last 16 of those years, he chaired the university's Department of Sociology, Social Work, and Criminal Justice. The university named him Distinguished Professor in 1991. Schmallegger is also the Director of the Justice Research Association, a private consulting firm and think tank focusing on issues of crime and justice. The Justice Research Association (JRA) serves the needs of the nation's civil and criminal justice planners and administrators through workshops, conferences, and grant-writing and program-evaluation support. JRA also sponsors the Criminal Justice Distance Learning Consortium, which resides on the Web at <http://www.cjdlc.org>. Schmallegger has taught in the online graduate program of the New School for Social Research, helping to build the world's first electronic classrooms in support of distance learning through computer telecommunications. As an adjunct professor with Webster University in St. Louis, Missouri, Schmallegger helped develop the university's graduate program in security administration and loss prevention. He taught courses in that curriculum for more than a decade. An avid Web user and Website builder, Schmallegger is also the creator of a number of award-winning World Wide Web sites, including one that supports this textbook (<http://www.cjtoday.com>). Frank Schmallegger is the author of numerous articles and more than 30 books, including the widely used Criminal Justice: A Brief Introduction (Pearson, 2012), Criminology Today (Pearson, 2012), and Criminal Law Today (Pearson, 2010). Schmallegger is also founding editor of the journal Criminal Justice Studies. He has served as editor for the Prentice Hall series Criminal Justice in the Twenty-First Century and as imprint adviser for Greenwood Publishing Group's criminal justice reference series. Schmallegger's philosophy of both teaching and writing can be summed up in these words: "In order to communicate knowledge we must first catch, then hold, a person's interest—be it student, colleague, or policymaker. Our writing, our speaking, and our teaching must be relevant to the problems facing people today, and they must in some way help solve those problems." • Visit the author's website at <http://www.schmallegger.com>.

Eh...it's okay for a textbook, but Schmallegger's style gets a little personal and biased sometimes, I was kind of surprised. Several times he puts things as fact in the textbook that are really matters of opinion, or don't present all sides of an issue. Almost everything of use you get from this book is vocabulary, anyways - and all of the vocabulary from Intro to Criminal Justice type classes is on dozens of different Quizlet flash card sites, just Google them. Most of the notes I took were from my teacher's Powerpoints, and were far more useful.

I purchased this text for consideration in one of my intro to criminal justice classes. If you are looking for the basics and the same old same old in a CJ text, you won't be disappointed. For years criminal justice education has been changing and unfortunately this author and others like him are resistant to that change. There needs to be a more creative way to teach criminal just at the intro level than by pumping students full of facts when they cannot think for themselves. Many of us are looking for something that will enhance problem solving and original thinking. This old method of "I tell you, now tell me back" is not education. There needs to be something better than this!

Bought this book "new" NOT used however obvious wear and tears were on it.

Great college study book.

I thought this book was going to be in somewhat not so great condition! How WRONG I was to think that! This book is in amazing condition and it really helped me with my Introduction to Criminal Justice class! It was convenient! I did not have to keep opening up the book online. I take online classes and sometimes we are not given "textbooks" to use physically. They download the books so that we can use them. The only issue I have with this method is that when I need to look for information, I have to keep opening up the book and it can be a pain in the keister! When I saw the price of this textbook, I knew I had better order it, since it was the last one available! I paid $.99 cents for it! The shipping and handling was $3.99! AMAZING! :-) Altogether, I paid a whopping $4.98 for a $150.00 textbook! Thank you, .com for letting me purchase a very expensive textbook for a whole lot less! I would recommend using .com for ordering your textbooks! Thank you again, .com! :-) :* >:D

This book was used for a class, but I really enjoyed the information and the way that it was written was very easy to follow. It arrive on time and was packaged very well.

Book was in excellent condition however i had to return it. It say "new" but it DO NOT contain access codes for Pearson Labs. if you need a text w/ access codes dont buy it unless you want to buy the access separately on top of it. If you dont need the Pearson codes it was perfect.

this book was amazing for what i used it for. it gives a broad general overview of the entire criminal justice system. it has tons of pictures and charts. which helps with the learning of the material covered inside. i used this book in college for in introductory course to the Criminal Justice program and I could not think of a better book than this one for that type of course. whether you are taking that program or just want to understand the basics of the criminal justice system i would recommend this book to you
