Real Food Heals: Eat To Feel Younger And Stronger Every Day

Synopsis

Healthy cooking reinvented by top chef Seamus Mullen, with over 125 Paleo-inspired recipes designed to revitalize your health every day. In the high-end food world, "healthy cooking" has long been taboo. But as one of the only high-profile chefs today guided by the understanding that the food we eat has a deep impact on our health, Seamus Mullen has rewritten the old rule that healthy can't be delicious. Seamus's powerful transformation came out of his own health crisis: after a near-death experience brought on by autoimmune disease he'd struggled with for years, he radically changed the way he cooked, both at his restaurants and at home. As a result, the biomarkers of disease disappeared and the constant trips to the ER he experienced while he was sick have come to an end. But what Seamus has been surprised to discover is that this new way of eating—dishes starring real, whole foods such as vegetables and fruits, meats used as garnishes, whole grains, fermented foods, and no refined sugar or gluten—has not only controlled his disease but has also made his body feel younger, stronger, and more energized every day. It is his mission to share his brand of cooking with readers everywhere to inspire them to shift their diets and truly redefine what "healthy eating" can and should be. A powerful manifesto with Seamus's moving journey at its heart, Real Food Heals is packed with 125 easy-to-prepare, Paleo-inspired, and nourishing recipes packed with delicious whole food ingredients, including Kefir Scrambled Eggs with Grated Garlic; Nori Rolls with Olive Oil, Tuna, Avocado, and Sprouts; and Fig Almond Cacao Nib bars. Complete with a 21-day jump-start meal plan, this unique cookbook will help everyone prepare healthy, irresistible food with big flavors every day and put them on the path to total wellness.

Seamus Mullen is an award-winning chef, restaurateur, and cookbook author known for his inventive yet approachable modern Spanish cuisine. He opened his first solo restaurant, Tertulia, in 2011, followed by El Colmado, a tapas and wine bar, in 2013. Seamus has been named Chef of the Year by Time Out New York and has been a semifinalist for Best Chef in NYC by the James Beard Foundation three years in a row. He was a finalist on Food Network's The Next Iron Chef and has been featured as a guest judge on Chopped and Beat Bobby Flay. Hero Food was his first cookbook. He lives in New York City.

I really like his first book and I was very excited about this one. However, I am not impressed. There are a LOT of salads in there. Also, a lot of them rely on pork products to give them flavor. I have an allergy to pork and have found that lately there's more and more use of pork products in too many recipes. Yes, I have the option to leave it out, but after you remove that product the recipe left is a simple salad with not a lot of imagination. There are only a handful of recipes that I can do because of that problem. Yes, most recipes are clean, but I really did not want another book on salads. I wanted main dishes, hearty healthy dishes and that is not what the book has.

I was inspired by Chef Mullins story of how he healed his health issues with food. However I felt his cookbook was much too driven by his profession and not realistic for the home cook. I would love to eat some of his dishes at his restaurant, but I will not try to track down white miso, forbidden rice and ramps at my local market. Many of his suggestions and recommendations are based on his experiences as a N.Y. Chef. I live in the desert--there are no farmers markets with great local produce near me. I have never seen a ramp except on TV. He even states in the fish chapter that he actually shopped for fish at a regular market instead of using his restaurant purveyor to see what we regular folks have available to us. He was not impressed. I was disappointed in inability to write recipes that were accessible to a broad audience.
