Bird Watching Journal

Synopsis

This Bird Watching Journal was designed to give you room to document over seventy birds in your bird watching excursions! Each left spreadsheet page allows room to document the order, species, genus, and family of each bird, areas to sketch what the bird looks like as an egg, young, and adult, an area to document the bird's diet and behavior, and a bottom area to jot down information about the bird's habitat and mating. The right spreadsheet page is split to allow a generous amount of space for any other sketching in a blank area and more feathery details on the lined area just below.

Customer Reviews

Stella Nadene is a lover of nature, and especially birds, thanks to her daughters. After being dragged into multiple bird watching ventures, she designed this Bird Watching Journal to help all fellow bird watchers document their feathered observations.

Love this! It's perfect for writing notes
